

PAUL JACKSON Watercolor Workshop "The Illusion of Glass"

Paul Jackson is a featured artist in the current issue of "Watercolor Artist" magazine (April 2016). He is shown with his magnificent watercolor of the bridges over the Danube River in Budapest, Hungary. This painting, which measures 5'x10', required a special size watercolor paper manufactured especially for him by Fabriano Paper Company in Italy. The article interviews Paul about his process of creating this painting, and he shares some "moments of terror" he experienced while it was in progress.

Paul is also well known for his paintings of glassware as shown in the photo. Central Kentucky Art Guild is very proud to have him schedule a workshop with us, and since there are already several people who have expressed an interest in being a part of this experience, please do not delay in making your decision to attend. We can accommodate about 22 attendees.
